GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great road to success in business, and the true secret to my gain. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in all dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise won d have lost."

OREGON.

H. M Spencer is President of the Young Men's Secret Debating society at Dallas

About fifty buildings have been erected in Baker City during the past season.

The mills at McMinnville are shipping large quantities of flour by rail to Portland

At Baker City on the 13th inst., the snow was six inches deep, and on the mountains around a foot more.

The line of hacks heretofore running between Jacksonville and Linkville, has been discontinued, owing to bad roads.

Circuit Court for Polk county, Judge Boon presiding, is in session this week. A pretty full docket is to be disposed of.

Wells, Fargo & Co., have closed their office in Lafayette and opened an office in St Joe, appointing Judge Watts their agent.

The grand jury of Jackson county recommend the people to build a new jail, court house, and Sheriff and Clerk's office.

The Democrat says: Arnat Loonmy who lives in Powder river valley, raised a crop worth $4,000, of which $3,400 was a net profit.

The county court of Jackson county, has appointed J. S. Howard, surveyor, of Jackson county, vice B. F. Myer, who failed to qualify.

The mail stage from the south by way of McMinnville connects at St. Joe with the train each day, the mails being delivered at Lafayette by a special carrier.

The preliminary steps have been taken for a tri-weekly mail from Roseburg to Coos Bay. This is much needed for the convenience of a large and growing community.

Mr. Tenbrook, who traveled from Goose Lake to Jacksonville last week, found the snow about ten inches deep on the Cascade range, when he crossed it, but rapidly melting.

The November term of the Circuit Court for Yamhill county, adjourned last Saturday to the 3d Monday in December, in order to finish up the large amount of business that has accumulated.

Beautiful snow covereth the mountains around Jacksonville, and the stately elk seeketh food and shelter in the valleys, where the fleet footed hounds and the deadly rifle ball layeth him low.

From Dr. Marsh, President of Pacific University, we learn that there are about one hundred and thirty students in the school, about one half of whom are boarders. Seventeen go from Dr. Marsh's dwelling.

Mrs Aurelia Johnson, a colored woman living near the stage road between Jacksonville and Yreka, blew down the chimney of a kerosene lamp last Saturday; the lamp blew back again, and Aurelia Johnson is no more. So says the Times.

The editor of a small sheet up in Polk county gets very mad about the election and some other little matters. He says he "thinks it was a great mistake to renominate Grant." No doubt all his kind, who desired to break up the Republican party, thought so. Ah, friend, "there's no use grieving over spilled milk," you know.

At Plannigan & Mann's (Newport Coal Banks, Coos county,) considerable building is going on, and the place presents a flourishing appearance. The people there take great pride in keeping things tidy. In fact they are a flourishing people, and are friends to education, as the school under the able management of Miss Carrie Swain, formerly of Salem, testifies.

A correspondent of the Jacksonville Sentinel, writing from Goose Lake valley says: "The weather had been very stormy for several weeks, but was more pleasant when he left, and bid fair to be a mild, open winter. The cattle are fatter than ever before known at this season of the year; the milch cows being in good killing condition. Throughout that country the farmers have a good supply of hay put up for the winter, in case any should be required.

The Times says: There is in contemplation a new mail route from Jacksonville to Sam's valley, Butte Creek, and Manzanita, to take the place of the present one, which will accommodate more people and to better advantage, and steps are being taken to push the matter through. The contemplated route begins at Jacksonville, runs from there to Brownsborough, thence to Big Butte, thence to Hannah's ferry, from there to the Meadows on Evan's Creek, from the Meadows to Hay's store in Sam's valley, and from there to Jacksonville, by the way of Bybee's ferry and Manzanita.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The trail connecting New Westminster with Semiahmoo is finished, and passengers can walk or ride over it.

The Wesleyan parsonage at Sumas has been completed, and it is a comfortable residence, quite creditable to that thriving settlement.

A recent storm and freshet did some damage on the Lower Fraser last week. Some cattle were drowned at Kultus Lake back of the Sumas settlement.

Mr. Richardson, of Victoria, has shipped a large number of specimens of the geology of British Columbia to Canada for a museum at Montreal.

The liquidators of the Queen Charlotte Coal Mining Company announce a dividend of 10 per cent. payable to creditors other than shareholders on and after the 18th inst.

A canoe containing three Indians was upset near Ross Bay last week, and one of the Indians drowned while the other two reached the shore in an almost frozen condition.

Wells, Fargo shipped the following amounts from Victoria on the 12th: Bank British Columbia, $21,423 81; Bank British North America, $17,155 04; Wells-Fargo, $4,122 10. Total, $45 000 98.

The Colonist of Victoria says: In landing one of the two mile coils of cable from the Prince Alfred it was allowed to run down the gang plank to the wharf. Apparently no injury was sustained; but when an attempt was made to unreel the coil it was found that the reel was smashed and broken, and the cable almost inextricably entangled. This accident may delay the laying of the cable for a few days.

The New York Herald's Washington letter of the 3d inst., says:

The two naval expeditions organized to continue the surveys for a ship canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, through the Darien and Nicaragua routes are preparing to start, Commander Selfridge in charge of the Darien, and Commander Lull in charge of the Nicaragua project The first will begin his survey on the Pacific side of the Isthmus, at the point from which the navigable waters of the Atrato river can be easiest reached The second will start from Greytown on the Atlantic side.

The Navy Department expects to decide wheth ther there are practicable routes for a canal within six months, though Commander Selfridge considers the question already decided affirmatively by his last survey, and goes out this time chiefly to find a cheaper route, the estimated cost of a canal over the route already found being $4,000,000.

A Jackson, Miss., dispatch puts the Republican majority in that State at 40,000. A Memphis, Tenn., dispatch estimates that the Republicans have carried Mississippi by 35,000.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

NEW YORK, Nov 17.—A fiendish attempt was made last night by depositing three heavy cross-ties across the Harlem track at Winchester bridge, to throw off the Boston express train. Fortunately they were not securely fastened and were readily displaced by the locomotive A reward of a thousand dollars is offered for the apprehension of the guilty parties

From Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Crowded churches to-day were a remarkable contrast to their attendance of the previous Sabbath, when the audiences were composed of a few women and children. The great conflagration is now the subject of sermons to day in the pulpits.

Washington street is now open for travel and other streets in the burnt district will probably be clear of their debris during the week. A small military guard is still on duty Thousands of people visited the ruins to-day

Loss of Wool.

BOSTON, Nov 17.—The most exact statement made of the quantity of wool destroyed gives total loss at 10,250,000 pounds, distributed as follows: Destroyed fleeces, 4,250 000 pounds; California and Oregon, 2,000,000, Tub, 50,000 pounds; scoured, 150,000 pounds, pulled, 1,325,000 pounds, Australian, 1,500,000 pounds; Cape, 150,000 pounds, South American, 200,000 pounds; sundries in boxes, 624 000 pounds These figures were obtained yesterday from individual losses.

The Old South Church.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Perhaps the most novel and interesting service held to-day was one held in the Old South Church, probably the last one that will be held there, no words can add to its history and renown. This memorable land mark was erected in the year 1730 and is now for the second time occupied by troops The audience was composed of several companies of soldiers, quartered there while guarding the city, and a few citizens and a half score of ladies The interior of the church presented a strange scene, the floor being strewn with articles of the soldiers' camp. The choir was composed of soldiers, a soldier presided at the organ. The service was conducted by Re Dr Manning and Murray.

A Raid.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The police made a raid on nine Broadway Concert Saloons last night by arresting the proprietors, bartenders, one hundred and sixty female waiters who were held for examination.

Some Shooting.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17.—About eight o'clock to-night while a large number of gentlemen were congregated in the vestibule of the Southern Hotel, Capt. Jas. Dix, a well known steamboat man walked up to M. Westling of New Orleans, who was conversing with some friends and deliberately shot him in the left jaw. Westling fell and when down Dix fired another shot which struck the prostrate man in the side. After the shooting Dix gave the pistol to one of the clerks of the hotel and was taken by his friends to the Chief of Police. Westling was only slightly injured.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Policy of the Administration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The President has recently been arranging points for his message, but has not yet commenced writing it. The contents of the document can be inferred only from his recent private utterances. It is safe to say, however, it will be more liberal in tone, especially toward the South, than his former message. The recent vote in that section being indicative of better feeling than heretofore toward Gen. Grant, while the press is more moderate in its utterances, not taking into account the popular majority of the entire country. The pardon of Calvin Smith is regarded by Southern gentlemen as a foreshadowing further of a friendly policy. It is the executive action in relation to some of the Ku Klux prisoners now serving out sentences in the Albany penitentiary.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

From Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The Government has issued a ministerial decree commanding German Railway Companies to organize the practice of transporting emigrants unless full rates for persons and baggage are paid. Hitherto the railway companies carried emigrants from the interior to seaboard at very low rates and baggage free thus encouraging emigration. The decree is arbitrary and obstructs emigration by increasing the difficulties of reaching the seaboard.

The bark C. Mitchell, hence for Port Madison, November 15th returned twenty miles west of Farallone Isles. She sprung a leak and came back for repairs.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—R. B. Butterbridge, one of the survivors of the Missouri disaster, furnishes a statement to the Nassau Guardian relative to the fate of Col. Albert S. Eyans and others, differing from that heretofore made He says that himself, Col. Evans, and five or six others were sliding down a rope to one of the life-boats at the side of the steamer, when an order was given to cut the line. It was obeyed, and Butterbridge fell into the sea Col. Evans followed, and then all the rest. Butterbridge was pulled in the boat, but the others sank and were drowned He says no effort was made to save them although the boat was not loaded to her full capacity, and remained near there about two hours

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—Mr. Holmes, one of the Arizona diamond explorers, states that it is the purpose of the owners of the field, held by many, to organize several co-operative companies this winter, to work the mines next spring and summer—he says also that it is possible that parties from Utah have discovered the plains where his possessions lie, but that the Company is secure in its title to the fields

The Columan silver mining company has filed a certificate of incorporation to work in Little Cottonwood district.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

SAN RAFAEL, Nov 18.—The District Court commenced to day. There is much excitement over the case of Gardner vs Birch, for breach of promise Plaintiff claims fifty thousand dollars

ANTIOCH, Nov. 18.—Valentine Eisher was murdered on Saturday, the 16th, on Marsh Creek at 5 P. M. Sunday the news was brought to town Justice McNulty and Deputy Sheriff G. A. Swain started immediately to the residence of the deceased, and found the body Sunday morning Swain received information and went back to the scene of the murder, and arrested a man named Marshall Martin and brought him to Antioch. He confessed to Swain, who immediately returned to the place of the murder a second time and arrested the wife of deceased She confessed also, and each one accuses the other of the deed The Coroner's inquest is going on

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—In the County Court room this morning as the prisoners who had been present at the empanneling of the grand jury were about to be sent below, Chas Mortimer, the murderer, made an assault upon his woman, Carrie, who was also one of the prisoners, and endeavored to catch her by the throat, having the impression that she had turned against him, which is understood to be the fact. Officers caught and prevented his injuring her The other prisoners endeavored to stampede during the excitement, but none managed to escape

Dr. Curtis, of Yolo county, a brother of Green Curtis, having become insane, was sent to the Asylum a few weeks ago He died there this morning

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 18.—The Santa Cruz quicksilver mine, located at Mount Pleasant, Monterey county, bids fair to prove one of the richest mine properties in the State The Company was incorporated in 1870, with one hundred and fifty shares, being twenty feet to the share. The mine is situated on a line between the New Almaden and New Idea, and the rock found in the present working is identical in character and appearance with that of those two famous mines A short time ago the Company struck a large and rich ledge of cinnabar in a shaft on the slope of the hill, but the miners were driven out by water. Samples from the ledge assayed 25 per cent. quicksilver Large quantities of the same kind of rock are now in possession of the Secretary and numerous shareholders of the mine A tunnel is now being driven into the base of the hill to strike the ledge about 20 feet below the developments in the shaft.

UTAH.

From Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 18.—A private

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 19, 1872.

The New Party.

The leaders of the Democratic party in the Atlantic States evidently regard the defeat of the Greeley combination, in connection with the change of position by the party upon the main questions that formerly divided the people of the country, as the dissolution of the organization. This is manifest in the conference just reported, in which the leaders of the party agreed upon an address to be issued to the people of the United States, recommending the formation of a new party upon substantially the basis of the Cincinnati platform. This address, of course, is intended exclusively for Democrats and that class of Republicans who, from their recent connection with the Democrats, may be expected hereafter to co-operate with them. It is a proposition to give up all the distinctive principles of the Democracy, as they have been hitherto declared, and to adopt in their stead a platform that is essentially Republican in all its most important points.

It is scarcely possible that a new party can be formed upon this basis, that will embrace anything like the entire rank and file of the old Democratic organization. The day of final dissolution, that sets members of the Democratic party free to chose their political associations for the future, will break the power of their leaders over them, and as many of them will fall into line with the already victorious Republicans as will unite with those who propose to begin at the ground and build up a new party on Republican principles. The want of some strongly marked difference of party creed between the new party and the old Republicans, will prove an element of weakness. The average politician, as well as the average man who is not a politician, will choose a place in an organization that is already successful in preference to entering one that is, in all important respects, similar to it, but that is not yet successful and can not hope to be, short of a series of years, if it ever is. This consideration alone would lead to the conclusion that the organization now proposed, will be a failure so far as relates to its proposition to unite the Democrats.

Nor is the prospect better for securing the assistance of the Liberal Republicans in the new movement. The want of harmony in the ranks of the allies in the Presidential election that has just past, and the utter indifference of all except the leaders, in both divisions of the alliance, as to the result of that contest, indicate how difficult it will be to secure the hearty co-operation of these two elements upon any platform. The Democracy will certainly refuse to accept, as their permanent creed, a platform so at variance with all their political theories, that they would not consent with anything like unanimity, to stand upon it for a single campaign. And the number of Republicans will be small, indeed, who will feel disposed to enter into a permanent alliance with the Bourbon Democracy, when there is nothing to be accomplished thereby, which might not be accomplished just as easily inside the Republican organization.

Such are the circumstances under which the new party is to be ushered into being. They are not the most auspicious, certainly. It requires no prophetic vision to foresee the failure that awaits the new born organization, should its projectors not conclude before hand to abandon the purpose of perfecting its formation.

The Toronto Globe takes the decision of the San Juan island controversy greatly to heart, and declares the United States "bullied" the German Emperor into deciding as he did, and other Canadian papers repeat the charge. The controversy was submitted to the Emperor William, by mutual agreement of the British and American Governments, and no little was said about it afterwards in the United States, that one-half the people of the nation forgot, —before the decision was announced—that such a reference had been made. Whatever San Juan island, and the smaller ones in its group, may be to the Dominion, they have never been regarded as sufficiently important to the people of the United States to induce our citizens to attempt to "bully" the German Emperor into a decision in our favor. During the pendency of this controversy before the Emperor, our Government had other matters in course of adjustment with Great Britain which were of greater moment, and its citizens were too busily engaged in watching the progress of events at Geneva, to pay very much attention to those of Berlin. And if they had not been, the idea of Americans, or any other people, intimidating Emperor William is simply childish.

Mrs. Minnie Myrtle Miller delivered her second lecture on "Joaquin Miller, the Poet and Man," at Pacific Hall, San Francisco, on the 12th instant, before an audience of about three hundred persons. Judging from the report of the lecture given in the San Francisco Bulletin of the 13th, it was little else than a reiteration of the pungent satire of her first lecture, which though extremely amusing, abounded in fictitious statements. We have personal knowledge of the incorrectness of several of her stories about Miller's mistreatment of her. She may have cause to blame him, but she has not all the causes she publishes to the world. We do not know that any of her remarks about Miller are correct, nor that they are all otherwise; but we do know she departs from the true statement in some very important particulars. However, from the way the San Francisco papers treat her performances, we suppose it makes little difference, whether she sticks to the facts or not, as she seems to be regarded simply as a showman.

A correspondent desires to know how many Presidential Electors the State of New York had in 1844 and 1848. By an act of Congress passed in 1842, and which took effect on the 4th of March, 1843, the number of Representatives apportioned to New York in the lower House of Congress was thirty-four. The Electors were equal in number to the Senators and Representatives together; that is, thirty-six. This apportionment remained unchanged till 1852.

A Washington correspondent says the health of Chief Justice Chase is so impaired that it is impossible for him to preside over the Supreme Court this winter, and that the Chief Justice contemplates spending a part of the winter in California, unless his health improves very soon.

A special dispatch from Memphis to the New York Tribune says from returns already in, it is estimated that Arkansas has gone Republican by 10,000 majority. The want of telegraphic and railway communication in that State precludes the rapid circulation of election news

Stop Thief.

Facts are coming to light which show more clearly than any protestations could, how deep was the feeling of the Liberal and Democratic coalitionists upon the subject of reform in politics. Whoever was cynical enough to entertain a doubt of the sincerity of the expressions by these pure minded politicians of horror at the corruptions which were practiced by the Republicans, in the use of money to carry the State elections in October, as well as the Presidential election which followed, will be put to shame for his uncharitable manner of looking at current events, when he comes to read the facts that are being made known now. These reformers were not such in theory merely, they were practical reformers. What they condemned in others, they would not do themselves. They denounced the use of money to carry elections, as a sin of which they knew the Republicans to be guilty, and see how bravely they lived up to their magnificent doctrines. Here is an inside view of the workings of their organization, taken from the Boston Advertiser, which demonstrates sufficiently to satisfy any reasonable mind, that when the Liberals and Democrats were crying "stop thief," in the ears of the country, they were not doing so merely to alarm and excite the public. There were thieves around and it was time for such a shout to be raised. But we will give the Advertiser's facts, which are just the thing those Liberal people need to vindicate them, as well as to prove how harmoniously and successfully a political campaign can be conducted without the use of money:

General Pleasonton subscribed the first amount to the working fund, which was $5,500, and paid it. A. T. Stewart subscribed $30,000, but with the understanding that it was to come through his western connections and that he should not be known in it, but Ethan Allen and his compatriots were so elated that they couldn't keep the secret, and it got into the papers. Then Stewart became mad and refused to give a cent. Wenton, however, brought him about after a while and he gave $10,000. This was given over to Fishdale, Fenton's private secretary, who sent it down to North Carolina where it was swallowed up by Wood and Blumenburg. The Liberals had but few rich pigeons, but these few they worked well. They sought to take advantage at an early day of the supposed sympathies of Governor Sprague and the well known Democratic sympathies of his brother Amasa, but Governor Sprague, like others, did not wish to appear on paper. He was perfectly willing to subscribe, but he didn't want the fact known in Washington. So he put down $20,000 in the names of two friends, viz.: John F. Hamblin, who got the check from the Government and devoted $10,000 of the sum to the New England States, and Mr. E. Pierce, who took the remaining $10,000 for Pennsylvania. In the mean time George Sprague had secured his Washington friends that he had made no subscription. Amasa Sprague forwarded $35,000 in one check, with instructions to apply it as follows: Maine, $5,000; Connecticut, $5,000; to Allen for the Liberal National Committee, $10,000; to Major Banks, for Democratic National Committee, $15,000, and he added decidedly, "Not a cent more." In Pennsylvania the Liberals had a sad experience. They pleaded extreme poverty, but they brought large sums to bear, nevertheless. Ethan Allen thought it well to apply the same aid which he had in North Carolina, so he arranged that Murray, the ex United States Marshal, should take charge of the manipulations, with headquarters in Philadelphia, and that the notorious Wood and Blumenburg should assist him. He promised them $10,000 of Gov. Sprague's money, and told them if they wanted more to draw on him. Then Pierce came into the State with $5,000, only half the sum promised. Murray apprised Allen of this fact, and Allen replied that he must get the remaining $5,000 out of Pierce, as that was the amount agreed upon. Wood went ahead with his operations, and desiring $10,000 more stood on the strength of Allen's authorization to draw. All their plans failed, as they were so closely watched, and the result of the business was not only utter defeat but a feud between Allen and Murray which promises to get into the courts, as Allen refused to pay the $10,000 for Wood. Murray writes to Wood that Allen is a beat of the first water and that he means to put him through. Over the missing portion of Sprague's money there is also a row. Allen has written to Sprague, who passed through this this city on his way from Texas to Providence, to send the money at once. Murray is also after it. The money from the Tribune was $16,000. Sinclair said $6,000 of this was from Greeley. It is hinted that Whitelaw Reid's purchase of a Tribune share about this time furnished the cash. August Schell, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, turned over $50,000 to be expended by the Liberals. Among other contributions, John Cochrane is down on his own books for $8,000; Marshall O. Roberts, as late as October 25, $10,000; John E. Williams, Metropolitan Bank, $1,000 and his brother $5,000 more; and Bob Murray is credited with $8,000. The total amount of the election funds of the Liberals then is about $250,000. Fenton has operated during the entire campaign independent of Allen, keeping his moneys out of his control, and what this has amounted to is not known.

A New Orleans special to the New York Times, gives returns from twenty-five parishes showing an aggregate majority for Grant of 12,969. This is a Republican gain of about 1,300 over the vote of 1870, when the State went Republican by 24,477.

The Coos county member of the Republican State Central Committee, D. L. Watson, Esq., writes to C. W. Parrish, Esq., Chairman, that Coos county gives Grant 225 majority.

CITY.

RAILROAD MATTERS —Regular passenger trains are now running to the summit of Rice's Hill An immense slide of earth occurred at that point of the road about one week ago The summit is about 7½ miles north of Oakland A construction train has been constantly employed on the other side of the slide in removing the obstructing earth and stones from along the track This train connects with the regular passenger trains from the north and passengers and freight are transferred from one train to the other over the portage The passengers are taken to Oakland and from thence to Roseburg Work progresses as rapidly as possible in the removal of the earth It is thought that trains can pass the summit in the course of a week or so

On Monday the locomotive "Oakland" which has been used for the last year at the east side depot in making up the trains was dispatched to the summit with a construction train The object is to set cars to removing the slide from the north end By this means trains will be working on both sides, and insure the early clearing of the track

Last Sunday night as the regular passenger train was moving southward and nearing the summit of Rice's Hill, a slight accident occurred A small quantity of earth, which had become loosened by the recent freeze and thaw, slid down across the track It was night, and the engineer did not perceive the obstruction until almost on it The train was moving at a good rate, and it was impossible to check the speed in time The locomotive succeeded in getting through with a damaged "pilot," but the platform on the baggage car was smashed to pieces by the force of the collision No one was hurt, and the damage trivial

The locomotive "Albany" has been engaged for several days past, and is still employed in hauling wood to the several stations Thousands of cords of wood have been chopped by contractors and hauled along the road As there are regular stations where the locomotives are allowed to stop for a few minutes, and replenish their stock of fuel, the "Albany" is distributing hundreds of cords at the several designated rest, and housing it in the woodsheds for the coming winter, now so near at hand

The locomotive "Eugene" which was brought up on the Ajutista several weeks ago, after being polished and put in good running trim, was placed on the road Sunday and reported for active service The "Eugene" took southward yesterday morning a heavy freight train, the first "pull" she has yet taken

The large new first class locomotive 'Junetta,' brought up last week on the bark Helvetia took her first trial trip from the carshops yesterday She will be ready to report for active service in a few days

The locomotive "Harrisburg" has been in active service since she was first put on the road. The engineers have reported that this locomotive needs overhauling She has been taken to the car shop and will undergo the required repairs. This locomotive has been employed on account of her great driving power in drawing heavy freight trains The "Eugene" has been substituted for the present

UNACCOUNTABLE DISAPPEARANCE —The community residing about seven miles east of Vancouver are considerably agitated over the sudden and mysterious disappearance of an old man named Murray. Murray has lived for some years in the neighborhood, and although singular and eccentric at times, commanded the respect of those by whom he was known Last Tuesday morning Murray started with a neighbor of his to come to Vancouver His neighbor was coming to town in a two horse wagon, and as Murray desired to visit the town he invited him to take a seat in his vehicle. The invitation was accepted and the two resumed their journey. The driver observed that Murray acted unusually queer, talked strangely and asked many foolish questions. But the neighbor, knowing the habits of the man, thought nothing singular of the matter When within a few miles of Vancouver, Murray asked his friend where he was going The driver very naturally answered, "To Vancouver" 'Why,' said Murray, "you are on the wrong road." Before the driver could answer a word, his companion leaped out of the wagon and disappeared at once instantly behind the thick timber which skirted the road on each side He halted his team and called loudly and repeatedly after the man, but received no response He even searched in the brush to discover the whereabouts of his companion. But the effort to find Murray was unrewarded, and after waiting some time, he drove on to town Murray had taken his rifle when he started from his house, and took the weapon when he jumped out and ran away His neighbor thought very strange of the conduct of the old man, but quieted his fears by assuring himself that it was only one of the many freaks common with Murray Several days elapsed and it was at length noised through the community that the old man had not visited his cabin or been seen since he ran off into the woods The neighbors, to the number of a dozen or more instituted a thorough search to find the lost man Up to yesterday not the slightest trace had been discovered It is said that the man frequently indulged in strong drink and from excessive use was subject to fits His continued absence induces the belief among his friends that he has wandered off in the timber a long distance from any habitation, and fell in a fit, and has frozen to death during the severe cold weather of the past week He was thinly clad when he left his home, and ill prepared to resist the snow and the bitter cold His disappearance continues to agitate the neighborhood, and no efforts have or will be spared to find the lost man or recover his remains Murray was over fifty years of age, and unmarried

RAMBLING IN PERU —In a recent letter (dated Sept. 20th) from Col. Edward A Flint, formerly of the Northern Pacific Railroad he states that he has changed his headquarters from Cuzco, Peru, a city some 400 miles in the interior, to Arequipa, near the coast—whose seaport is Mollendo—where he is Resident Engineer His family leave New York for Panama on the steamer of the 10th January, 1873, where he expects to join them and escort them on the rest of the journey The following quotations may be of interest

I believe I wrote you that we have had our invitation, and that it only lasted a couple of days, and everything is expected to be quiet for the next four years I have heard indirectly that some of the public works will be stopped for a while, but ours will go ahead I think it will be finished in two and a half years We have forty twenty miles graded now If it hadn't been for the stoppage of those works I think I should have written for some of the Northern Pacific engineers to come out and join me But as it is, I must postpone until such time as all the public works are in operation again Mrs Ide is in first rate health and enjoys engineering more than she did in Oregon, and I couldn't have got a better man He is just finishing his location, and will go into winter quarters at Tinta, and I intend moving my office there also for a few months Bissell, who is locating the third division of 100 miles, will be through next month, and I intend also bringing him to the same place until the rainy season is over, which will be about March About four months of rain—something like Oregon. Arequipa on the contrary, is seldom blessed with rain It can only rejoice in earthquakes, which are pretty regular in their attendance.

HOLLADAY PROMENADES —Since the completion of the plank roadway from the eastern limits of K street, to the Lone Fir Cemetery, the people of East Portland are felicitating themselves on the prospect of a neat and handsome promenade during the winter as well as the summer months Sunday a great number of persons were out enjoying the glorious sunshine and salubrious air, some on foot and in carriages. During the whole day the road was lined with pedestrians and vehicles. We are gratified to note such an important acquisition to the pleasure and convenience of the East Portlanders Not actuated by the least spirit of rivalry, we still think that when Front street is completed, this city will have as handsome a public promenade, as any city on this coast.

ANNIVERSARY —One year ago to day the Ladies' Literary Society, was organized in this city The first preliminary steps were taken to that end one year ago, but the Constitution and by laws of the Society were not signed in regular order until the week following the first meeting The Society now has a larger membership, and is in a flourishing condition The members propose to hold their first anniversary meeting next Tuesday evening The first Anniversary Address will be delivered before the Society by Mr Benjamin Stone Other appropriate exercises will take place on the occasion

NEW SAW MILL.—A new portable steam saw mill has just been completed at the Willamette Iron Works for Mr. Isaac Allen It will be shipped to Cloverdale, south of Eugene City in a few days.

RETURNED —Mr J T Robert returned a few days ago from an official visit to Point Dungeness and Edie Island, whither he went some weeks since to superintend various improvements which were made at those places At Edie Island, the cellar underneath the lighthouse was repaired and placed in a condition to resist successfully the encroachments of the sea Last year during the continuance of high tides the water penetrated the wall and submerged the cellar The motion of the water loosened the wall by destroying the adhesive properties of the mortar and the whole foundation was in a disintegrating condition thus rendering the upper structure insecure The cellar was thoroughly cemented and until the future tests demonstrates to the ingenuity of the engineer At Point Dungeness a number of needed improvements were made A large water cistern was constructed with a capacity of 12,000 gallons a boat house, several wood houses and inclosures built Portions of the walls of the foundation of the lighthouse were also repaired The bottom of the tides had swept away the mortar leaving large cracks and cannies between the bricks, which endangered the safety of the whole tower Everything has been put in the best possible condition for the coming winter The work on the lighthouse at Cape Foulweather has been temporarily suspended, until the arrival of the lantern The lenses necessary, were received some time ago The lantern is now at San Francisco and will be shipped to its destination shortly

SLANDERING THE GAL' —An interior California exchange comes to us with a rather romantic story concerning an emigrant girl whom the paper alleges came from the vicinity of this city with her "parients" She, with her father and family, encamped near Colusa one evening, and were visited by a resident of the town, a bachelor, who was a violinist and brought his violin with him He played upon the instrument so sweetly that he captivated the gal's affections, and when the old man hitched up his team next morning he kissed his married daughter and shook hands with the fiddler, whom one night's energetic courting had transformed into his son in law The old man remarked as he cracked his whip over his jaded team This country is too fast for me; and I'll be damned if I don't get out of it

PHENOMENON —About one o'clock yesterday morning a singular phenomenon was observed in the sky A thin cloud, not wider than two degrees, stretched from the western to the eastern horizon It was of a light, fleecy nature, and as white as snow The cloud made many fantastic curves and zigzag windings, not unlike the folds of some monstrous serpent When its singular appearance first attracted attention the course of the cloud was uniform and straight, intersecting the zenith, and extending down to the horizons. It soon lost its uniformity, and faded away from the sight, after having been visible about fifteen minutes

SIMILARITY OF TWINS —Mr G W Bolte, who resides in Beaverton, seven miles from Portland, has twin daughters, 14 years of age in January, 1872 They were born within one half minute of each other, and at birth there was just one half pound difference in their weight, and has never been more since to use the expression of their father, they always weigh in the same notch They have the same height, color of hair and eyes, and are so much alike as scarcely to be known apart in their own family If either one is called or spoken to by name the nearest one answers, as names make no difference to them or the family

CROCKERY —Mr M Seller, the pioneer importer of, and wholesale and retail dealer in, crockery in all its branches, advertises in our columns to-day The attention of the public is solicited He has everything, both useful and ornamental, in his line, such as China glassware, plated ware, cutlery wood and willow ware, chandeliers lamps of all descriptions white granite ware fine French and China tea sets, castors, berry dishes, cake baskets, porcelain lined ice pitchers, etc, etc It would be an endless task to enumerate his stock Read his advertisement and give him an early call

SEWER CONSTRUCTED —A tile sewer is being laid on Stark street, which reaches from the rear portion of the Oro Fino Saloon and effects a junction with the sewer leading to the river. The object of this sewer will be to serve as a conduit to carry off offensive accumulations from the inside of the block The sanitary conditions of Stark street, between Front and First, have usually been in a wretched state and it is to be sincerely hoped that this sewer will contribute towards its future cleanliness

PRELIMINARY LINES —A party of railroad surveyors, employed by the Northern Pacific, and under the superintendence of Chief Engineer Hansbrah, are engaged in running preliminary lines from Sandy through towards East Portland, on the south side of the Columbia A few days ago the party had reached Pullen's Ranch, twelve miles northeast of this city The party will probably locate preliminary lines through to East Portland in a few days

CLOSING OF THE COLUMBIA.—Experienced river men have given it as their opinion, that unless a decided change in the temperature occurs in the next eight and forty hours the middle Columbia between the Cascades and the Dalles, will be so frozen that navigation will be closed The water is reported to be extremely cold, as well as the atmosphere, and ice is foaming along the margin of the river, and in portions of the stream remote from the shore

BAD GET DOWN —Louis D Pittman a resident of Sublimity, Marion county, was indicted by the grand jury, and arrested a few days ago by the U S Marshal, on the charge of disposing of liquor to Indians He was brought down Sunday evening on the cars Defendant was arraigned yesterday morning in the U S District Court, and allowed until Wednesday morning to plead

AT SALT LAKE —Mr Carl Bosco, the skillful photographer and clever magician, who left this city over a month ago for New York, was to have given one of his sleight of hand performances at Salt Lake City last Saturday evening From the last named place he will proceed to his destination without delay He will probably be absent until next spring

RUMORED NEGOTIATIONS —The Olympia Courier says that it is rumored that the N P R R. Company are making negotiations with Mr Holladay to buy all his interests in Oregon while it is intended by the Company to build a line of railroad from the Cascades on the Columbia river to Portland, to connect with the Willamette valley lines.

STREETS TO BE LET —Bids for the planking of College street, full width with side gutters, from Fourth to Fifth streets and also for the planking of G street from Fourth to Sixth, in the same manner have been handed in to the Auditor's office and were to have been opened yesterday by the Committee on Streets and Public Property

REVERSING —We are informed by a gentleman from below Kalama that Mr Geo Coggan who was seriously cut about the head with an axe in an altercation with a man named McGraw last week is recovering and will soon be pronounced out of danger

ABOVE THE FALLS —Although the stage of water in the Upper Willamette is quite low three boats are running from the Basin as far up the river as possible The Company's steamers Albany, Dayton and Success are plying regularly

CRIMINAL NOTES

The case of Hop Sing, arrested on a charge of larceny, came up yesterday before Justice Flynn The evidence being regarded as insufficient the defendant was discharged from custody

The case of Stephen DeSantelle, indicted for incest occupied most of the afternoon yesterday in the Circuit Court the case went to the jury about 5 o'clock

Rosa Peterson was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued from Justice Dodge's court The defendant was charged with the larceny of a trunk alleged to be the property of one Mary Bell The case came up for trial yesterday Decision by the Court will not be given until to morrow morning

A mere boy, not to exceed 11 years of age named Alex Harris, was arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Denny, on a charge of beastly intoxication In consideration of the youth of the offender and the fact of its being his first offence of that character, the Court discharged him after giving him a fatherly reprimand on the consequences of intemperance

AMUSEMENTS

The much spoken of drama of "Foxy," from the pen of Mrs Susie Whitehall, and specially dramatized by Mr Waldron, will be played at Oro Fino Theater Entire ignorance of the plot and characters of this drama precludes comment for the present

There will be a vocal and instrumental entertainment given this evening at Neppenet Hall, corner First and Madison streets The exercises will consist of charades, tableaux, music, etc One of the most attractive features of the evening will be an instrumental quartette performed by small children under the direction of Prof McGibney Admission, fifty cents Proceeds from premises to those who attend, pleasure and instruction

The Waldron Troupe gave the last rendition of Foxy Lynne' at Oro Fino Theater last evening Considering the fact that it was Monday evening —the worst night in the week for theatrical business—a good audience was present This beautiful and affecting drama was produced in a most handsome and acceptable style Mr Waldron assumed the character of Archibald Carlyle, Mrs Stewart, that of "Corny," Mr Fulford, "Sir Francis Levison," Miss Fulford "Barbara Hare" and Mr Vinson, Lord Mountsevern" The rest of the characters were ably and artistically represented The crowning acting of the drama was Mrs Waldron's rendering of the characters of "Lady Isabella" and "Madam Vine" "Foxy Lynne" has often been produced here before, but we venture the assertion that the characters mentioned have never been more accurately, artistically or with that full weight of true pathos delineated by her predecessors on the stage in Portland. Such patriot adherence to nature and natural outspeaking of the womanly heart is observed, that the whole play seems a real drama of life and not an artificial one Not even the most callous perception or obdurate heart can witness Mrs Waldron's impersonation of those characters without shedding the tear of sympathy

We hold health and life by a frail tenure and not to protect them to the best of our ability would seem to argue a deficiency of common sense The marching winds and cold rains of spring the tropic heat of summer the malarious vapors of autumn and the paralyzing temperature of winter are all inimicable to those finely adjusted and sensitive pieces of mechanism we call our bodies Each season has its peculiar perils and it is fall to perhaps as prolific of dangerous disorders as any of them; for at this season fevers and bowel complaints are very apt to take on epidemic form As a preventive of this class of diseases, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters cannot be too warmly recommended In it are combined five essential medical properties It is a tonic at once powerful and wholesome, a stimulant pure and undefiled, an aperient, mild and painless, an anti bilious agent of marvellous efficacy and a general regulating medicine without an equal in the pharmacopoeia These five distinct properties operating together in perfect harmony, produce a condition of the system somewhat analogous to that brought about by a course of pugilis to training In other words as judicious physical training hardens the flesh and renders it comparatively fat proof so does this marvellous invigorant increase the capability of the organs of the body to resist the more indirect and insidious assaults of disease It imparts new elasticity and strength to the vital machinery, and those who use it on a preventive of intermittent fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, rheumatism, and other ailments common at this season, may walk fearless through an atmosphere impregnated with the morbid elements which give rise to those maladies

CITY.

HARBOR MATTERS —Regular passenger train now running to the summit of Rices Hill An immense slide occurred at that point of the road about one week ago The summit is about ¾ miles north of Oakland A construction train has been constantly employed on the other side of the slide in removing the obstructing earth and stones from along the track This train connects with the regular passenger trains from the south and passengers and freight are transferred from one train to the other over the portage The passengers are taken to Oakland and from thence to Roseburg Work progresses as rapidly as possible for the removal of the earth It is thought that trains can pass the summit in the course of a week or so

On Monday the locomotive "Oakland" which has been used for the last year at the east side depot in making up the trains, was dispatched to the summit with a construction train The object is to set this locomotive to work with a large force of Chinamen to remove the slide from the north end By this means trains will be working on both sides, and insure the early clearing of the track

Last Sunday night as the regular passenger train was moving southward and nearing the summit of Rices Hill a slight accident occurred A small quantity of earth, which had become loosened by the recent freeze and thaw, slid down across the track It was night, and the engineer did not perceive the obstruction until almost on it The train was moving at a good rate, and it was impossible to check the speed in time And the locomotive succeeded in getting through with a dam aged "pilot," but the platform on the baggage car was smashed to pieces by the force of the collision No one was hurt, and the damage trivial

The locomotive "Albany" has been engaged for several days past, and is still employed in hauling wood to the several stations Thousands of cords of wood have been chopped by contractors and hauled along the road As there are regular stations where the locomotives are allowed to stop for a few minutes, and replenish their stock of fuel, the "Albany" is distributing hundreds of cords at the several designated stations, and housing it in the woodsheds for the coming winter, now so near at hand

The locomotive "Eugene" which was brought up on the Ariadne several weeks ago, after being polished and put in good running trim, was placed on the road Sunday and reported for active service The "Eugene" took southward yesterday morning a heavy freight train, the first "pull" she has yet taken

The large new first class locomotive "Junction," brought up last week on the bark Belfast took her first trial trip from the carshops yesterday She will be ready to report for active service in a few days

The locomotive "Harrisburg" has been in active service since she was first put on the road. The engineers have reported that this locomotive needs overhauling She has been taken to the car shop and will undergo the required repairs. This locomotive has been employed on account of her great driving power, in drawing heavy freight trains The "Eugene" has been substituted for the present

UNACCOUNTABLE DISAPPEARANCE.—The community residing about seven miles east of Van couver are considerably agitated over the sudden and mysterious disappearance of an old man named Murray. Murray has lived for some years in the neighborhood, and although singular and eccentric at times, commanded the respect of those by whom he was known Last Tuesday morning Murray started with a neighbor of his to come to Vancouver His neighbor was coming to town in a two horse wagon, and as Murray desired to visit the town he invited him to take a seat in his vehicle The invitation was accepted and the two resumed their journey The driver observed that Murray acted unusually queer, talked strangely and asked many foolish questions But the neighbor, knowing the habits of the man thought nothing singular of the matter. When within a few miles of Vancouver Murray asked his friend where he was going The driver very naturally answered, "To Vancouver" "Why," said Murray, "you are on the wrong road" Before the driver could answer a word, his companion leaped out of the wagon and disappeared almost instantly behind the thick timber which skirted the road on each side. He halted his team and called loudly and repeatedly after the man, but received no response He even searched in the brush to discover the whereabouts of his companion But the effort to find Murray was unrewarded, and after waiting some time, he drove on to town. Murray had taken his rifle when he started from his house, and took the weapon when he jumped out and ran away His neighbor thought very strange of the conduct of the old man, but quieted his fears by attributing himself that it was only one of the many freaks common with Murray Several days elapsed and it was at length noised through the community that the old man had not visited his cabin or been seen since he ran off into the woods The neighbors, to the number of a dozen or more instituted a thorough search to find the lost man Up to yesterday not the slightest trace had been discovered It is said that the man frequently indulged in strong drink and from excessive use was subject to fits His continued absence induces the belief among his friends that he has wandered off in the timber a long distance from any habitation, and fell in a fit, and has frozen to death during the severe cold weather of the past week He was thinly clad when he left his home, and ill prepared to resist the snow and the bitter cold His disappearance continues to distress the neighborhood and no efforts have been will be spared to find the lost man or recover the remains Murray was over fifty years of age, and unmarried

RAILROADING IN PERU—In a recent letter (dated Sept. 29th) from Col. Edward A Flint, Attorney of the Northern Pacific Railroad he states that he has changed his headquarters from Cuzco, Peru, a city some 400 miles in the interior, to Arequipa, near the coast—whose seaport is Islay—where he is Resident Engineer His family have New York for Panama on the steamer of the 10th January, 1873, where he expects to meet them and escort them on the rest of the journey The following quotations may be of interest "I believe I wrote you that we have had our revolution, and that it only lasted a couple of days, and everything is expected to be quiet for the next four years I have heard indirectly from some of the public works will be stopped for a while, but there will go ahead I think it will be finished in two and a half years We have only twenty miles graded now If it hadn't been for the stoppage of these works I think I could have written for some of the Northern Pacific engineers to come out and join me, but as it is, I must postpone until such time as all the public works are in operation again Mr— is in first rate health and enjoys engineering more than he did in Oregon, and I couldn't have got a better man He is just finishing his section, and will go into winter quarters at Tinta, and I intend moving my office there also a few months Bissell, who is locating the third division of 100 miles, will be through next month and I intend also bringing him to the same place until the rainy season is over which will be March About four months of rain—some thing like Oregon, Arequipa, on the contrary is often blessed with rain It can only reckon on earthquakes, which are pretty regular in their attendance."

HARBOR PROMENADES —Since the completion of the plank roadway from the eastern limits of K street, to the Lone Fir Cemetery, the people of East Portland are felicitating themselves on the prospect of a neat and handsome promenade during the winter as well as the summer months Last Sunday a great number of persons were out enjoying the glorious sunshine and salubrious air, both on foot and in carriages During the whole time the road was lined with pedestrians and vehicles We are gratified to note such an important addition to the pleasure and convenience of the East Portlanders. Not actuated by the least pang of rivalry, we still think that when the north street is completed, this city will have as handsome a public promenade, as any city on this coast

ANNIVERSARY —One year ago to day the Ladies' Literary Society, was organized in this city The first preliminary steps were taken to day one year ago, but the Constitution and by laws of the Society were not signed in regular order until the week following the first meeting The Society now has a larger membership, and is in a flourishing condition The members propose to hold their first anniversary meeting next Friday evening. The first Anniversary Address will be delivered before the Society by Mr Benj Lyon. Other appropriate exercises will take place on the occasion

NEW SAW MILL.—A new portable steam saw mill has just been completed at the Willamette Iron Works for Mr. Isaac Allen It will be shipped to Cloverdale, south of Eugene City in a few days.

RETURNED —Mr J T Robert returned a few days ago from an official visit to Point Dungeness and Ediz Island, whither he went some weeks since to superintend various improvements which were made at those places At Ediz Island the collar underneath the lighthouse was repaired and placed in a condition to resist successfully the encroachments of the sea Last year during the continuance of high tides the water penetrated the wall and submerged the cellar The action of the water loosened the wall by destroying the adhesive properties of the mortar and the whole foundation was in a disintegrating condition thus rendering the superstructure insecure The cellar was thoroughly drained out and for the future made impervious to the ingress of the sea At Point Dungeness a number of needed improvements were made A large water cistern was constructed with a capacity of 12 000 gallons a boat house, several wood houses and inclosures built Portions of the walls of the foundation of the lighthouse were also repaired The action of the tides had swept away the mortar leaving large cracks and crannies between the bricks, which endangered the safety of the whole tower Everything has been put in the best possible condition for the coming winter The work on the lighthouse at Cape Foulweather has been temporarily suspended until the arrival of the lantern The licenses necessary, were received some time ago The lantern is now at San Francisco and will be shipped to its destination shortly

SLANDERS THE GAL'—An interior California exchange comes to us with a rather romantic story concerning an emigrant girl whom the paper alleges came from the vicinity of this city with her "parients" She with her father and family, encamped near Colusa one evening, and were visited by a resident of the town, a bachelor, who was a violinist and brought his violin with him He played upon the instrument so sweetly that he captivated the gal's affections, and when the old man hitched up his team next morning he kissed his married daughter and shook hands with the fiddler whom one night's energetic courting had transformed into his son in law The old man remarked as he cracked his whip over his jaded team This country is too fast for me, and I'll be dogoned if I don't get out of it

PHENOMENON —About one o'clock yesterday morning a singular phenomenon was observed in the sky A thin cloud, not wider than two degrees, stretched from the western to the eastern horizon It was of a light, fleecy nature, and as white as snow The cloud made many fantastic curves and zigzag windings, not unlike the folds of some monstrous serpent When its singular appearance first attracted attention, the course of the cloud was uniform and straight, intersecting the zenith, and extending down to the horizons It soon lost its uniformity, and faded away from the sight, after having been visible about fifteen minutes

SINGULARITY OF TWINS —Mr G W Betts, who resides in Beaverton, seven miles from Portland, has twin daughters, 14 years of age in January, 1872 They were born within one half minute of each other, and at birth there was just one half pound difference in their weight, and has never been more since, to use the expression of their father, they always weigh in the same notch They have the same height, color of hair and eyes, and are so much alike as scarcely to be known apart in their own family. If either one is called or spoken to by name the nearest one answers, as names make no difference to them or the family.

CROCKERY —Mr M Seller, the piano importer of, and wholesale and retail dealer in crockery in all its branches, advertises in our columns to day The attention of the public is solicited He has everything, both useful and ornamental, in his line such as China glassware, plated ware, pottery wood and willow ware, chandeliers, lamps of all descriptions white granite ware, fine French and China tea sets, castors, berry dishes, cake baskets, porcelain lined ice pitchers, &c, etc It would be an endless task to enumerate his stock Read his advertisement and give him an early call

SEWER CONSTRUCTED —A tile sewer is being laid on Stark street, which reaches from the rear portion of the Oro Fino Saloon and affords a junction with the sewer leading to the river The object of this sewer will be to serve as a conduit to carry off offensive accumulations from the inside of the block The sanitary conditions of Stark street, between Front and First, have usually been in a wretched state and it is to be sincerely hoped that this sewer will contribute towards its future cleanliness

PRELIMINARY LINES —A party of railroad surveyors, employed by the Northern Pacific, and under the superintendence of Chief Engineer Hunsborsam, are engaged in running preliminary lines from Sandy through towards East Portland, on the south side of the Columbia A few days ago the party had reached Pullen's Ranch, twelve miles northeast of this city The party will probably locate preliminary lines through to East Portland in a few days

CLOSING OF THE COLUMBIA —Experienced river men have given it as their opinion, that unless a decided change in the temperature occurs in the next eight and forty hours the middle Columbia between the Cascades and the Dalles, will be so frozen that navigation will be closed. The water is reported to be extremely cold, as well as the atmosphere and ice is forming along the margin of the river, and in portions of the stream, remote from the shore

BROUGHT DOWN —Louis D Pittman, a resident of Sublimity, Marion county, was indicted by the grand jury, and arrested a few days ago by the U S Marshal, on the charge of disposing of liquor to Indians He was brought down Sunday evening on the cars Defendant was arraigned yesterday morning in the U S District Court, and allowed until Wednesday morning to plead

AT SALT LAKE —Mr Carl Bosco, the skillful photographer, and clever magician, who left this city over a month ago for New York, was to have given one of his sleight of hand performances at Salt Lake City last Saturday evening From the last named place he will proceed to his destination without delay He will probably be absent until next spring

TONNAGE NEGOTIATIONS —The Olympia Courier says that it is rumored that the N P R R Company are making negotiations with Mr Holmes to buy all his interests in Oregon while it is intended by the Company to build a line of railroad from the Cascades on the Columbia river to Portland, to connect with the Willamette valley line

STEAMERS TO BE BUILT —Bids for the planking of College street, full width with side gutters from Fourth to Fifth streets and also for the planking of G street, from Fourth to Sixth, in the same manner have been handed in to the Auditor and were to have been opened yesterday by the Committee on Streets and Public Property

LOCATING —We are informed by a gentleman from below Salmon, that Mr Geo Colgan who was seriously cut about the head with an axe in an altercation with a man named McGraw, last week is recovering and will soon be pronounced out of danger

ABOVE THE FALLS —Although the stage of water in the Upper Willamette is quite low, three boats are running from the Basin as far up the river as possible The Company's steamers Albany, Dayton and Success are plying regularly

The case of Hop Sing, arrested on a charge of larceny, came up yesterday before Justice Ryan The evidence being regarded as insufficient, the defendant was discharged from custody

The case of Stephen DeSantelle, indicted for incest occupied most of the afternoon yesterday in the Circuit Court the case went to the jury about 4 o'clock

Rosa Peterson was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued from Justice Dodge's court The defendant was charged with the larceny of a trunk, alleged to be the property of one Mary Bell The case came up for trial yesterday Decision by the Court will not be given until to morrow morning

A mere boy, not to exceed 12 years of age named Alex Harris, was arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Denny on a charge of beastly intoxication In consideration of the youth of the offender, and the fact of its being his first offense of that character, the Court discharged him after giving him a fatherly reprimand on the consequences of intemperance

The most spoken of drama of "Fay," from the pen of Mrs. Susie Witherell, and specially dramatised by Mr Waldron, will be offered at Oro Fino Theater Entire ignorance of the plot and characters of this drama precludes comment for the present

There will be a vocal and instrumental entertainment given this evening at Nonpareil Hall, corner First and Madison streets The exercises will consist of charades, tableaux, music, etc One of the most attractive features of the evening will be an instrumental quartette performed by small children, under the direction of Prof McGilbery Admission, fifty cents The concert promises to those who attend, pleasure and instruction

The Waldron Troupe gave the last rendition of Last Lynne at Oro Fino Theater last evening Considering the fact that it was Monday evening —the worst night in the week for theatrical business—a good audience was present This beautiful and affecting drama was produced in a most handsome and acceptable style Mr Waldron assumed the character of Archibald Carlyle, Mrs Stewart, that of "Corny" Mr. Fulford, "Sir Francis Levison, Miss Fulford "Barbara Hare" and Mr Vaughn, Lord Mountsevern" The rest of the characters were ably and artistically represented The crowning acting of the drama was Mrs Waldron's rendering of the characters of "Lady Isabella" and "Madam Vine" "Last Lynne" has often been produced here before, but we venture the assertion that the characters mentioned have never been more accurately, artistically with that full weight of true pathos delineated by her predecessors on the stage in Portland Such strict adherence to nature and natural outspeaking of the womanly heart is observed, that the whole play seems a real drama of life and not an artificial one Not even the most callous perception or obdurate heart can witness Mrs Waldron's impersonation of these characters without absorbing the tear of sympathy

We hold health and life by a frail tenure, and not to protect them to the best of our ability would seem to argue a deficiency of common sense The searching winds and cold rains of spring the tropic heat of summer, the miasmatous vapors of autumn and the paralyzing temperature of winter are all inimicable to those finely adjusted and sensitive pieces of mechanism we call our bodies Each season has its peculiar perils and the fall is perhaps as prolific of dangerous disorders as any of them; for at this season fevers and bowel complaints are very apt to take an epidemic form As a preventive of this class of diseases Hostetter s Stomach Bitters cannot be too warmly recommended In fact are combined five essential medical properties It is a tonic, at once powerful and wholesome a stimulant pure and undefiled, an aperient mild and painless, an anti bilious agent of marvellous efficacy and a general regulating medicine without an equal in the pharmacopœia These five distinct properties operating together in perfect harmony, produce a condition of the system somewhat analogous to that brought about by a course of regular training To other words as judicious physical training hardens the flesh and renders it comparatively fire proof, so does this marvellous invigorant increase the capability of the organs of the body to resist the more indirect and insidious assaults of disease It imparts new elasticity and strength to the vital machinery, and those who use it as a preventive of intermittent fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, rheumatism, and other ailments common at this season may walk fearless through an atmosphere impregnated with the morbid elements which give rise to those maladies

Fall Weather and Warm Blood

We should never allow ourselves to forget that nature intended us for warm blooded animals In this climate of surprising changes we are very apt, to forget it especially in the fall and spring At such seasons, when we freeze and simmer on alternate days there is engendered in us a certain recklessness which takes no heed of cold or heat dampness or dryness and receives all temperatures with the same front generally a defenseless one It is certainly very troublesome to change front as often as the weather, and there is a prejudice in American minds against such change, which has a great deal to do with the rapidly increasing population of our grave yards People like to have stability of purpose and if they can have it in nothing else they will try to have it in their dress They will not make a change until they make a permanent one for the season No matter how hot it is in the spring, they will wear spring clothes until summer, and no matter how cool it may be in August, summer clothes must be worn until fall shall actually set in Thus oftimes suddenly and with sad results we find ourselves approaching the condition of the fishes and lizards,—for the chill that alert forerunner of disease, is ever ready, in our climate to take advantage of circumstances

We suppose that there are no people in the world so indifferent to the demands of the weather—especially cool weather—as Americans and one reason of this is that very many of us are ashamed to keep warm To wrap up and button up and to put down windows whenever there is a chilling change in the air argues to most minds, a namby pamby eagerness to be well that is repugnant to the hardy American soul. So, rather than be laughed at, we shiver We prefer tragedy to comedy the grave to the ridiculous

The necessity of keeping warm naturally suggests fires. And why cannot we have them earlier in the fall? What is there about a fire that we shrink from it until its warmth becomes a necessity? Cost of fuel has much to do with the late advent of warm hearth stones, but there are other luxuries which do not frighten us that are much more costly and not nearly so well worth the money that is paid for them.

Apart from its healthfulness of which so much could be said that we will say nothing a fire in the fall is a luxury Not only because in the mornings and evenings it softens the in door air, as the sun softens the air out-of doors at noon, but because it suggests the joys of winter at a time when its hardships are not yet known it gives us the rose without the thorn And if we are so conditioned as to be able to command a wood fire—never so suitable as in the mildly cold days of October and November—how can we reconcile it to our consciences to deny it to ourselves? Let us then bring

> "Old wood to burn!
> Ay, bring the hill side beech
> From where the owlets meet and screech,
> And ravens croak
> The crackling pine and cedar sweet;
> Bring, too a clump of fragrant peat,
> Dug 'neath the fen
> The knotted oak,
> A sight too, perhaps,
> Whose bright flame dancing winking
> Shall light us to our drinking,
> While the oozing sap
> Shall make sweet music to our thinking

And even if we have to omit the peat, and though tea shall fill our drinking cup—let us have the fire —Scribner's for November

The Medical Geography of the Equine Epidemic

The great horse epidemic, which is ravaging the eastern half of the Continent and has just made its appearance in England, seems to be intimately connected with certain well marked meteorologic phenomena It is of the utmost importance to the proper management of the disease, as well as to the discovery of its physical relations and its antecedents in future years, to ascertain its casual links

In the public equine calamity it has escaped popular observation, and even the press, that this epidemic was not unforeseen by scientific men, and was distinctly foreshadowed, in accordance with physical or cosmical law, some months ago. Since the solar researches of Secchi, Smith, De la Rue and others have demonstrated the close thermal and atmospheric relations of our globe with the recurrence of sun spots, in supra-annual cycles, it has been possible to name the period of nearly twelve years as one which brings the greatest aerial and electrical derangements to our planet Last year several of our scientists, counting 1848 and 1860 as historic periods of maximum sun spots, predicted for 1872 the present prevalence of the numerous vegetable blights and the present scourges of the animal kingdom The striking simultaneity of the epidemic in this country and the cattle diseases now raging in the countries of South America, on opposite sides of the Equator, would induce the belief that the cause is not terrestrial, but planetary and cosmical. This helps to unravel the mystery and is a step in the right direction

But it seems also clear that cosmical agencies operate upon our planet through its great atmospheric machinery Thus, according to the high authority of the English physicist, Keith Johnson, the northeast wind is distinctly catarrhal in its influence, the south west wind, bi singularly malarial, and the dry northwest wind, from the higher continent, sweeping over the Northwestern States and Territories lying west of Lake Superior, is the vitalizing current which corrects the evil effects of the others. This distinction is now the well accepted tenet of the ablest expositors of medical geography and is highly practical and suggestive.

The northwest wind which has for some time descended over our country from the Canadian borders and the western side of the North Atlantic Ocean is apparently charged with climated conditions favorable to the development of influenza catarrh and similar affections It reaches us after passing over Canada, but originally comes from the further ocean beyond, having doubtless, traversed the great Polar current and ice stream which descends southward through Baffin's Bay and Davis Strait, and on the other side of Greenland, in the channel between that frozen continent and Iceland In both the latter countries catarrhal fevers and asthmatic diseases of the lungs are notoriously severe and common, and it is said that Icelanders seldom outlive fifty years, owing to the prevalence of such epidemics

It is perhaps, not too much to hope that solar and meteorological investigations will enable the scientific world to anticipate more confidently the irruption of these great adversaries of man and beast, and enable us to chart the limits and zones within which they will move. Such a result would be of profound interest to the whole world.

DANCERS REFUSING TO PAY THE FIDDLERS.—A K Chase lately brought suit in a Justice's Court, in San Francisco against the "Tenth Ward Greeley and Brown Club, M McCloskey and John Parnell to recover $143 for musical services rendered defendants in those glorious (!) struggle, by Desmond's brass band, the demand being assigned to Chase for collection The complaint, which is remarkable for its freedom from storebtyped law phases, and its somewhat facetious tone, sets forth that the Tenth Ward Greeley and Brown Club was "an association composed of divers individuals having a common interest, viz the election of the great Liberators Greeley and Brown," that McClosky had the honor of being President thereof," and that Parnell was Treasurer, that the persons comprising said association were very numerous "though not sufficiently so to cope with the legions of His Majesty Gen. Grant," but yet so numerous that it is impracticable to bring them all before the Court—moreover they are "so impecunious that no good could result from bringing them in, that the musical services aforesaid were rendered to 'lure' the said Club on to victory, that said services were then reasonably worth the sum asked, but said sum has not been paid, although defendants have been "many times dunned for the same," that the demand was assigned to the plaintiff who "hopes to collect the amount thereof"

Scott's statue is food for the critics They don't like the bard's costume It is a pity the sculptor didn't know this in time Let us however, study to forgive him Flowing robes look well whether they are in "sam chromism" or not. Certainly nothing could be stiffer and more unpoetical than our modern styles done in bronze or stone

DECISION IN THE U S CIRCUIT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY

The concurrent jurisdiction conferred upon the Circuit Court by section 2 of the bankrupt act is limited to cases where there is a controversy respecting the right to a person interested in the specific thing between the assignee and the claimant and it does not extend to an action to collect a money debt

The District Courts have original jurisdiction of all cases and controversies of insolvency third persons and the assignee in bankruptcy to attach

United States Circuit Court District of Oregon Monday, November 18, 1872

Joseph Buchman assignee, etc, vs N L Packard

Action to recover money—No 151

This action was commenced on May 10 1872 by the plaintiff as assignee in bankruptcy of the partnership and undivided estate of M S Hart L K Packard and W H Mouthrop doing business as M S Hart & Co to recover a sum of money alleged to be due upon a promissory note made by the defendant on February 3, 1870, to said Hart or order for $300 in gold coin, with interest at 12 per centum on annum

It appears from the complaint that the partnership of M S Hart & Co was duly adjudged bankrupt in this Court on February 6 1872 and that on the 19 of the same month plaintiff was duly chosen assignee of said estate

On July 2 defendant demurred to the complaint and assigned for cause that the court has not jurisdiction of the subject of the action

The case was argued and submitted on November 12

The question made upon the argument of the demurrer turns upon the construction to be given to the following clause of Section 2 of the bankrupt act

Said Circuit Courts shall also have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts of the same district of all suits at law or in equity, which may or shall be brought by the assignee in bankruptcy against any person claiming an adverse interest or by such person against such assignee, touching any property or rights of property of said bankrupt transferable to or vested in such assignee

In the defendant in this action a person claiming an adverse interest touching any property or rights of property of said bankrupt etc? If he is not the Court has no jurisdiction and the demurrer is well taken

For a better understanding of the subject reference may be had to Section 1 of the act, defining the jurisdiction of the District Courts From this it appears that such jurisdiction not only extends to all matters and proceedings in bankruptcy" strictly speaking, but in effect, "to all cases and controversies" consequent upon the proceedings in bankruptcy and until the close thereof

The clause quoted from Section 2 of the act does not give the Circuit Courts concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts of "proceedings in bankruptcy," but only "of all suits at law or in equity" brought by or against an assignee in bankruptcy concerning certain property and rights of property And thus tends to show further that Congress did not intend to hereby give the Circuit Courts jurisdiction of any or all suits at law or in equity, by or against an assignee, as it is conceded it had already done in the case of the District Courts (Goodall, Assignee vs Tuttle, 4 Leg News, 205) Otherwise there would have been no use of the qualification that one party or the other to the suit in the Circuit Court must be one 'claiming an adverse interest' in or "touching the property or rights of property vested in the assignee"

In which case the clause would most naturally have read

Said Circuit Courts shall also have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts of the same district of all suits at law or in equity which may be brought by or against the assignee in bankruptcy, as such,—or "under and in virtue of the bankruptcy" From this view of the matter it appears more than probable that the concurrent jurisdiction of the Circuit Courts was not intended to include only a certain class of suits by or against an assignee, as such, and that therefore it is a matter to be ascertained whether this action is within this class or not.

This action is one brought to recover a simple debt due the estate—a means of collecting an asset of the bankrupt. So far as appears the debtor does not deny the debt, but simply neglects to pay it according to his promise He either owes the debt or he does not In the first case he certainly cannot claim an adverse interest in it or anything concerning it, as against the plaintiff, and in the second case, there being no debt, nothing exists in which any one can have or claim an interest

The sum which it appears the defendant owes and the plaintiff seeks to recover is not any specific money or property. At present the assignee only has a right of action against the defendant whereby he seeks to judicially establish the existence of the alleged debt and thus be enabled to enforce its collection out of any property which the defendant may then have subject to seizure and sale on execution

The term "interest" as used in the act signifies an estate, share or part, and a suit to be maintained in the Circuit Court by or against an assignee must be concerning some property or right of property derived from the bankrupt, and in which it must appear, that one party or the other claims an interest, adverse to, that is, against the other.

In this case the defendant does not appear to claim any interest in the debt alleged to be due the plaintiff, and as has been shown, it is impossible in the nature of things that he should have such interest

I should not have considered it necessary in deciding this question, to do more than state it, and cite the act upon which the plaintiff relies, but for certain decisions made under a precisely similar clause in the act of 1841

In Mitchell vs Manuf. Co (2 Story 660) Mr Justice Story held that the Circuit Court had jurisdiction of a suit in equity to recover a debt. The case before the Court was a suit for an account by the assignee It appears that the principal question in the case was whether any National Court had jurisdiction The Court proceeds at length to show that Congress did not intend to leave the administration of the bankrupt system to the State Courts, but that the District Courts had ample jurisdiction for all purposes of the Act, including "the jurisdiction to entertain all suits to adjust all adverse claims and to collect all outstanding debts," and thence concludes that the Circuit Courts have the same The reasoning in support of this latter conclusion is brief and, to my mind, unsatisfactory It rests mainly upon the more assumption that an "adverse party" in an action to recover a debt is necessarily a party claiming 'an adverse interest in property or a right of property derived from the bankrupt

In McLean assignee vs Lafayette Bank et al (3 McLean 186) Mr Justice McLean held that under the Act of 1841 the concurrent jurisdiction of the Circuit Courts, 'reaches every possible controversy which can arise in the collection and distribution of the effects of the bankrupt' This conclusion is simply an arbitrary deduction from the fact that such jurisdiction was vested in the District Courts

It is also to be noted in this case as in Mitchell vs Manuf Co, (supra) that the principal question made before the Court was not whether the Circuit or District Courts had jurisdiction, but whether the jurisdiction did nor belong to the State Court and that the opinion was given in a suit in equity by the assignee against parties claiming liens upon the property of the bankrupt which the assignee alleged were obtained in fraud of the bankrupt law, and which were then being enforced in the State Court If the District Court had jurisdiction undoubtedly the Circuit Court had also It was not a mere action for the collection of a simple debt but a suit to ascertain and adjust adverse claims to specific property

These are the only authorities that have been found to support the position of the plaintiff, that this Court has jurisdiction of this action Notwithstanding my respect for the learned and great judges who gave these opinions, I cannot concur with them, and am satisfied that in this respect they spoke inadvertently and without due consideration

Neither have these opinions been followed by any of the judges before whom this question has arisen under the Bankrupt Act of 1867

In Bump's Bank, (4 Ed.) 291, the cases of Morgan vs Thornhill, Woods vs Forsyth and in re Alexander are cited as deciding, that controversies to be cognizable under the concurrent jurisdiction clause of Section 2 in the Circuit Courts "must have respect to some property or right of property of the bankrupt, transferable or vested in the assignee and the suit 'must be in the name of one of two parties described in this clause and against the other, and that such jurisdiction 'is confined to cases in which there is a disputed title or claim to property—to suits in which some title or claim to the property or assets adverse to that of the assignee is set up The Circuit Courts cannot entertain suits brought by the assignee to collect debts due to the bankrupt estate"

Goodall, assignee vs Tuttle (supra) was like this, an action to recover a debt due the bankrupt In the course of a learned and able opinion upon the question whether a District Court other than the one where the bankruptcy proceedings are pending, can take jurisdiction of an action by the assignee to collect assets of the bankrupt, Hoffman J says: "That Section (2) clothes the Circuit Court with concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts in certain (not all) cases arising under the act but not of the character of this case"

In Sedgwick, assignee, vs Casey (4 Bank Reg 161) Blatchford, J held that a suit to collect a debt did not come within this clause and therefore was not within the limitation of two years made applicable to suits of which the Circuit Court has concurrent jurisdiction

In my judgment this action is not within the letter of the clause or reason of it The defendant is not a person claiming an adverse interest as against the assignee, touching any property of the bankrupts involved in this action, neither does the plaintiff claim any such interest as against him The jurisdiction of the action is vested in the District Court

If it had been intended to confer the same jurisdiction upon the Circuit and District Courts in all suits at law or in equity which might be brought by or against the assignee as distinguished from the summary proceedings which take place in the court of bankruptcy proper, and to which creditors are deemed to be parties, it was only necessary to say so in so many words But the act, after giving the district courts unlimited jurisdiction in this respect, confers concurrent jurisdiction upon the circuit courts specially, and in language which cannot be fairly construed to include other than a certain class of suits, as controversies growing out of conflicting claims to or interests in some specific property or thing In such cases Congress deemed the matter of so much importance as to permit the plaintiff to commence his suit in the Circuit Court in the first instance But in the matter of the collection of a debt, original jurisdiction is confined to the district courts, with the right of appeal to the Circuit Court, "when the debt or damages claimed amount to more than five hundred dollars" —(Sec. 8, Bank act)

The demurrer is sustained.

We see no reason from an examination of our late Eastern exchanges to believe that the tightness in monetary matters will abate very soon The Chicago Journal notes the fact of a rise in rate of interest at the Bank of England and says this controlling business and speculation by a legal sliding scale of interest is the best made ever devised of providing against panics. The banks are mostly used and controlled by solid business men. The interest on loans from banks being fixed by law, and sound merchants being accommodated by their banks with the money they want at regular legal rates do not study the phases of the outside Money market. They attend to their business carefully, and depend upon the banks to carry any amount of sound business paper The banks may see a strong rising, but have no proper way of cautioning their customers Allow words of advice are of no avail, and not often practicable Bankers and merchants often have large and continued business operations without ever meeting The banks may be able to carry for awhile all their customers when the outsiders are in deep trouble The interest, however, is fixed The effect of this is that the bankers, seeing trouble ahead begin to weed out,—helping the strong men and even increasing their loans, and casting out the weak and small merchants—the very men whom they should help The weak merchants are driven to the street to increase the trouble and, being unaccustomed to such manipulating, are the first to fall

If on the other hand the banks were allowed to exchange their Credits, or what is generally termed money for their customers' notes or credits at the market rates the banks would have a practical way of checking too extended business by increased rates of interest—thus bringing regular business into harmony with offering special (per haps) interests which were affecting the market The caution to the regular dealer would be unmistakable coming in the shape of an increase from a source which would be naturally careful of his interest; and which he would respect

Foreign Insurance in Boston

A statement from Boston shows that the 41 fire and English insurance companies in Boston at the time of the fire aggregated $9,428,262 How much of this was in the district burnt over in the great fire has not yet been announced but it is all ought that the losses to be paid by these English companies will be something between five and eight millions of dollars

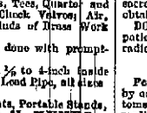
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 625 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering on a miserable existence from the effects of recent indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible, life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rumbling of leaves and rustling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary ones of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades Some are linenmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they
